

```

stop();

//a URL request that specifies the document that has the text we wish to appear in the box
var myRequest:URLRequest = new URLRequest( "info.xml" );

//the object that will be doing the loading for us
var infoLoader:URLLoader = new ULLoader();

//load the data that is reference by our URL request we created infoLoader.load( myRequest );

//this event fires when the load is done infoLoader.addEventListener( Event.COMPLETE, showInfo );

//Once the data has loaded, we put the text into the textfield, and begin animation again function showInfo( e:Event ):void {

    //we take the data in info.xml and parse it into an XML object
    //then we store that object in infoXML var infoXML:XML = new XML(infoLoader.data);

    //now we will write out the data contained within infoXML
    //first we reset our text field to blank
    iClip.info.text = "";
    /*
        then we append information, concatenating strings with the '+' sign a '\\' starts an escape sequence ( essentially a set of special instructions ) thus, '\"' means display double quotes and '\n' means start a new line
    */
    iClip.info.text += "Name: " + infoXML.name + "\n";
    iClip.info.text += "\"" + infoXML.quote + "\"\n";
    iClip.info.text += "Occupation: " + infoXML.occupation + "\n";
    iClip.info.text += "Age: " + infoXML.age + "\n";
    iClip.info.text += infoXML.address.street + "\n";
    iClip.info.text += infoXML.address.city + ", ";
    iClip.info.text += infoXML.address.state + ", ";
    iClip.info.text += infoXML.address.zip;

    play();
}

```